BONAR LAW DECIDES FOR SMALL CABINET

Will Be Least in Size of Recent Years With 16 Members, Including Premier.

FILLS MINOR POSITIONS

Appointment of Labor Minister Intimation Post Will Not Be Abolished.

LONDON, Nov. 6. (Associated Press).—Premier Bonar Law to-day announced the appointment of the remaining minor officials of his Government. He has decided that his Cabinet, including himself, shall consist of sixteen members. This will be the smallest Cabinet of recent years, except the war Cabinet, which was a kind of inner Cabinet.

The Cabinet includes the Minister of Labor, which is a plain intimation that there is no intention to abolish the Labor Ministry.

The Ministers from whom the Cabinet will be chosen are:

Prime Minister and First Lord of the Treasury, Andrew Bonar Law; Lord President of the Council and Deputy Leader of the House of Lords, the Marquis of Salisbury; Lord Chancellor, Viscount Cave; Chancellor of the Exchequer, Mr. Stanley Baldwin; Home Secretary, Mr. W. C. Bridgeman; Secretary for Foreign Affairs, the Marquis of Curzon; Secretary for the Colonies, the Duke of Devonshire; Secretary for India, Viscount Peel; Secretary for War, the Earl of Derby; First Lord of the Admiralty, Mr. L. C. M. S. Amery; President of the Board of Trade, Sir Philip Lloyd-Greame; Minister of Health, Sir Arthur Griffith-Boscawen; President of the Board of Education, the Hon. E. L. Wood; Minister of Agriculture and Fisheries, Sir Robert A. Sanders; Secretary for Scotland, Viscount Novar; Attorney-General, Mr. Douglas Macdowell; Lord Advocate, the Hon. William Watson; Labor, Sir Montague Barlow; Pensions, Major George C. Fryer; Air, Sir Samuel Hoare; Postmaster-General, Neville Chamberlain; Commissioner of Works, Sir John Baird; Solicitor-General, Thomas W. H. Inskip.

Herbert H. Asquith in a speech in London to-night denied rumors of a possible new alliance between the Asquithian Liberals and the Conservatives if the Conservatives fail to secure enough seats to command a majority in the new Parliament. He described the idea of such an alliance as wholly fantastic.

'MOST INDICTED MAN' PLEADS IN NINE CASES

Sing Sing Sentence Near End,
He Is Arraigned Again.

CLIFFORD EVANS, 22, of 847 East Fourteenth street, said to be the "most indicted man" in the State, was brought from Sing Sing prison yesterday to plead in nine indictments before Judge Louis D. Gibbs in the Bronx County Court.

A term of from two and a half to five years imposed in 1920, after he had pleaded guilty to grand larceny, is about to expire.

He was arraigned yesterday for an alleged burglary at the home of Herbert L. Jamison, 1764 Vyse avenue, in which jewelry valued at $247 was stolen.

FLIER LEAPS INTO WABASH.

Losses Landing Gear: Jump Is Only Recourse.

DANVILLE, Ill., Nov. 6.—Signaled from the air by other aviators that he had lost his landing gear, Capt. Lawrence H. Hickey of Rantoul Field, headed for the Wabash River and jumped.

Lieuts. Carr and McLaughlin, who had taken the air just after Hickey, noticed his predicament and signaled him. They flew close behind him and rescued him from the water.

WOMAN WITNESS SUSTAINS MRS. GIBSON IN HALL CASE

The authorities considerably by her statements. He was asked: "Do you consider Mrs. Fraley as an important witness for the State?"

"I do," he replied, saying that he believed that her testimony would have an important bearing on the case before the Grand Jury. He admitted that her story corroborated Mrs. Gibson's affidavit one more than one important point. Mrs. Fraley did not see the murder committed, Mason testified, but she did hear certain things. More witnesses will be examined and re-examined by either Mason or Mott within the next forty-eight hours, although there will be little activity to-morrow, he said.

One official discussed the possibility of Mrs. Hall going before the Grand Jury in an effort to make it clear she had nothing to do with the crime. This official said the matter was one to be determined by the Prosecutor, but the Grand Jury could go over his head and ask for her testimony. This is rather unusual, as the Grand Jury is usually satisfied with whatever evidence the Prosecutor may see fit to present.

About Mrs. Mills' Throat.

The statements of Dr. Long about the cutting of Mrs. Mills' throat are being checked up especially. According to Long, his original report said the throat of the woman was "haggled or garrotted." To the reporters soon after the finding of the bodies he asserted that there had been no cutting of the throat and that because of advanced decomposition the scarf which was wound about the woman's head had cut into the flesh.

This statement also was made to local officials.

One official said emphatically that there is nothing in Long's first report about the cutting of the throat nor is there anything about the scarf having made any wound. The report has not been made public.

Dr. Long was quoted to-day as saying that an official high in the investigation told him to keep quiet about the fact that Mrs. Mills' throat had been slashed. He refused to see reporters who sought to question him about this, and said that he would not tell anything about the report. To-night, however, he was reached by the reporters at his home in Somerville and denied that he had made any such statement.

He said:

"My report was delivered to Prosecutor Beekman on the Tuesday following the murder. Prior to that time I had not seen Mr. Beekman. I assume that he got the report on Tuesday, for that is when I delivered it. In my report I stated that Mrs. Mills' throat had been injured by some sharp instrument, and that the throat was badly decomposed. In the report of the autopsy made in Brooklyn they did not say that her throat had been cut with a knife, but that it had been done with some sharp instrument."

According to Dr. Cronk, who performed the second autopsy, there was no mention made in the first report by Dr. Long about any cutting of the throat. The statement also has been made that Dr. Long was at the scene on the day the bodies were found and spoke to Prosecutor Beekman and Edwin R. Carpenter at that time. Both Mr. Beekman and Mr. Carpenter admit this, although Dr. Long says he had not seen Mr. Beekman prior to the submitting of his report to the Prosecutor.

Charlotte Mills has put all ideas of the stage aside, and will stay in New Brunswick to complete her studies at the senior high school here. She will graduate a year from the coming February, and then will go to live with her mother's sister, Mrs. Elsie Barnhart, in Paterson, and will enter the Montclair Normal School to study to become a teacher.

James Mills, her father, said to-night that he was puzzled by the moves of Prosecutor Mott, and quizzically asked the reporters when there would be some action. He commented:

"Gee, I guess these prosecutors and lawyers are all alike, and none of them can do anything with this case. It's darn funny, and I wish they'd start and get somewhere with all this investigating."

He also told of the numerous letters he gets daily from "cranks" who are eager to tell him who did the killing and how it was done, and why. Mills consigns all these letters to the kitchen stove, even several ardent ones from women who are willing to keep house for him. About Charlotte's statement that she was going to live with his sister-in-law, Mrs. Barnhart, Mills said that she would have to finish her school work here, and then she could do what she pleased. He was quite pleased, however, that Charlotte had decided to settle down to study, and spoke highly of his daughter's work in high school. He said:

"She is a darn smart girl, all right, and she has made good marks. In spite of all her absence since this case started, she'll make out all right. I guess, and take care of herself without any great help."

AGENTS FREED IN BRIBE ARRESTED IN ROBBERY

French Prizefighter Now Accuses Revenue Men.

William D. Yasell of 640 West 123rd street and William McCormick of 348 West Twenty-ninth street, both revenue agents and Peter Coccaro, of 326 Thompson street, a cashier, were locked up last night for alleged robbery. Yasell and Coccaro ten minutes before had been cleared of extortion charges by Ralph Oyler, chief of the narcotic division, who held an investigation.

Detective Patrick Sleavin of the West Thirtieth street station produced at the Oyler inquiry Leon Bedou, a French prizefighter, who said he recognized Yasell, McCormick and Coccaro as three assassins who had robbed him of $480 and twenty-four fur skins October 30 at his home, 244 West Thirtieth street. Yasell charged a "firmney" and had previously said Bedou was attempting to pay him back for having searched him for cocaine.

Chief Oyler, after dismissing as groundless a charge that Yasell and Coccaro had tried to extort money from an East Side drugist, said he had no jurisdiction in the other case. Detective Sleavin placed the three under arrest.

$15,000 FIRE ILLUMINES ELECTION EVE IN JERSEY

A $15,000 fire in the one story frame storage house of the Charles Heidt
Cooperative Company in Johnson street,
contributed to Jersey City's celebration of election eve last night. The flames leaped so high that they could be seen in New York, but people living in upper Jersey City, seeing parades and red fire all around them, thought
the blaze was a part of the celebration.
The structure was filled with empty barrels.

DE VALERA DEFIES FRIENDS OF PEACE

Free State Replies by Order to Arrest His Chief Adherents.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK HERALD.
Copyright, 1922, by THE NEW YORK HERALD.
New York Herald Bureau.

Eamon De Valera issued a statement to-day denying that his followers were negotiating for peace, and declaring that "victory for the republic or utter defeat and extermination" was now the only platform upon which his party stood. The Free State Government's answer was an order for the arrest of all important members of the new anti-treaty Council of State.

As De Valera heads the definite organization working for the overthrow of the Free State Government he also is now liable to arrest. Prior to the proclamation of his Council of State he was ignored because he was considered powerless. Since the irregular army pledged allegiance to this body two members of its elected executive, Ernie O'Malley and Joseph O'Connor, have been arrested.

De Valera hopes by his manifesto to reunite the discordant elements of his following, which is badly disorganized. His denial of any peace negotiations has not altered the fact that he personally met Richard Mulcahy, Minister of Defense, about a month ago, although the meeting was arranged by a neutral who told both that the other desired a conference. Neither the Government nor De Valera's organization has openly sought to negotiate peace, but several intermediaries, notably father Thomas of Cork, are still active to that end.

MISS MARY MACSWINEY GOES ON HUNGER STRIKE

Prisoner of Free State Is Sister of Late Cork Mayor.

DUBLIN, Nov. 6. (Associated Press).—A bulletin issued by the Republicans says that Miss Mary MacSwiney, who was arrested by the Free State military on Saturday, has been on a hunger strike since then.

A letter said to have been found after her arrest reads: "If imprisoned I will hunger strike. I don't know whether they will let me die, but if they do, pray for me that I may be as brave as those who have gone before me."

Mary MacSwiney is a sister of the late Terence MacSwiney, Lord Mayor of Cork, who died in Brixton Prison, London, on October 25, 1920, after a hunger strike of seventy-three days.

BEATS WIFE TO DEATH WITH PART OF IRON BED

John Andrews, 35 years old, employee of a paper mill at Morristown, N. J., while under the influence of liquor beat
his wife to death with part of an iron bedstead early yesterday, according to word which reached John M. Mills, prosecutor of Morris county.

The crime was witnessed by Andrews' little son, John, Jr., according to the State police. He said that Andrews,

Mellon, as Razor Waves, Makes Barber Pay Tax

Special Dispatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD.
New York Herald Bureau.
Washington, D. C., Nov. 6.

SECRETARY OF THE TREASURY MELLON in a whimsical discussion to-day on the necessity of exactitude by the Treasury in collecting even small items of taxes due, showed he has rare personal bravery in addition to calm judgment and moral courage.

Some weeks ago the Secretary was in Hot Springs for a vacation. The barber at his hotel, learning his identity, began, when the shave was about half through, a diatribe against the tax collectors. With Latin intensity he waved a huge bulk of correspondence and said it was all about 17 cents the Government said he owed. Gesticulating with his razor, he wanted to know from the Secretary what to do about it.

"Pay it," the Secretary said. It was paid.

the father of eight children, all under 15 years of age, came home drunk and demanded money of his wife. When she refused, he dragged her upstairs and struck her repeatedly over the head and body with a piece of iron bedstead. The boy notified neighbors, who found the woman dead. Andrews told the State troopers his wife had been smothered by some men outside the house, and that he had carried her body into the house. He was held by the Morristown police station. Coroner Lewis of Eonton said that after an autopsy a charge of murder would be made against Andrews.
